

Introduction

This paper presents a novel approach to document processing using advanced layout analysis and structure detection. The system handles tables, lists, and complex formatting.

Methods

We employ a multi-stage pipeline for document analysis.

Results

The evaluation shows significant improvements in retrieval accuracy compared to baseline chunking strategies.

Conclusion

Layout-aware processing produces higher quality chunks.